MP Kramp: System will improve quality of life for those living with Multiple Sclerosis

Belleville, ON— Daryl Kramp, Member of Parliament for Prince Edward-Hastings, welcomed the recent government announcement of a Canadian Multiple Sclerosis Monitoring System (CMSMS).

“This system is designed to monitor the health of those diagnosed with MS”, said Mr. Kramp. “Over time, the data gathered will provide health care professions and others with the resources to identify the best therapies in the treatment of MS.”

The new monitoring system will provide to health care professionals, researchers and policy makers, a better understanding of disease patterns and the use of treatments across the country for Canadians living with MS.

“The main goal of this system is to improve the quality of life to the thousands of Canadians living with MS”, said Mr. Kramp.

The system will be developed by the Canadian Institute for Health Information (CIHI) in collaboration with the Canadian Network of MS Clinics and MS Society of Canada. Federal funding through the Public Health Agency of Canada will support the development of this collaborative initiative.
